Baja South: Baja California Sur [Mexico] (National Geographic Adventure Map)

Synopsis

Waterproof Tear-Resistant Travel Map

Located in Northwestern Mexico, the Baja California Peninsula is a popular travel destination for its abundant recreation and conservation opportunities. National Geographic's Baja South Adventure Map covers with unparalleled detail the state of Baja California Sur, in more sparsely populated southern half of the peninsula are some of the Gulf of California Islands. The northern side of the map covers the UNESCO World Heritage Site, Rock Paintings of the Sierra de San Francisco, Bahia Loreto and El Vizcaino. The southern side covers the state capital La Paz, Cabo San Lucas, San Jose del Cabo and Corredor Los Cabos. Inset maps give extensive detail to these popular areas. Cultural, historical, recreational and ecological points of interest, a road network and topographic features are all combined on this easy to use and expertly researched map. With such specialized content, this map is the perfect compliment to any guidebook. Pinpointed are missions, ruins, museums, lighthouses, scenic viewpoints, wildlife viewing spots, beaches and areas for surfing, diving, fishing, kayaking, sailing, windsurfing, snorkeling and whale watching. The detailed road network includes not only major highways and toll roads but also gravel and dirt roads, to help you get off the beaten path. Moreover, a table of distances is provided as are ferry routes, railroads and an index of protected areas and select towns. Every Adventure Map is printed on durable synthetic paper, making them waterproof, tear-resistant and tough • capable of withstanding the rigors of international travel.

Founded in 1915 as the Cartographic Group, the first division of National Geographic, National Geographic Maps has been responsible for illustrating the world around us through the art and science of mapmaking. Today, National Geographic Maps continues this mission by creating the world's best wall maps, recreation maps, atlases, and globes which inspire people to care about and explore their world.

This map provides a good over view and supplement to GPS or another map. I'd bought other National Geographic maps with the same "complaint", not enough detail. I knew I'd have the same problem with this one but bought it anyway because there are not many alternatives available. It met my needs OK and the map is of high quality paper so it stands up well to travel, bad folding and being stuffed in the bottom of a bag for days on end.

There are new highways and roads that are not on this map. In general it was OK, but needs an update.

accurate

It's a good idea not to rely on the internet if you will be driving around in Baja. Having such a details road map is an excellent precaution.

Would like a more detailed map however it is hard to find many streets in the cabo area for lack of signs

The map has too large a scale to be useful. There are no useful city maps. So you can see how to get from city-to-city (there are virtually no route options anyway) but little information for when you arrive at your destination.

Suitable for my use. Will no more once we have returned from our trip

Basically a glorified road map. Shows all the roads; but not much else. Sturdy and "waterproof".

Hoped for more.
