Encyclopedia Of Universal Potteries

Synopsis

The Encyclopedia of Universal Potteries features over 1,000 colorful photographs of the many dinnerware lines and patterns produced in Cambridge, Ohio, from 1934 until 1955. The text gives a brief history of the company as well as short descriptions of each product line. Original advertisements, backstamps, and user-friendly values are also included. The collector will find the more recognizable patterns of Cattail, Woodvine, Calico Fruit, Moss Rose, Bittersweet, Circus, and many other patterns that were produced on Ballerina, Camwood Ivory, Mount Vernon, Upico Ivory, Raymor, and Fascination product lines. In addition, there are many more product lines and interesting patterns represented in the book, which makes for a wonderful reference guide for the beginner or seasoned collector. 2008 values.

Customer Reviews

Original advertisements, backstamps, over 1,000 color photos, and values are included in this book. It makes a wonderful reference for the beginner or the seasoned collector. Brief histories of each product line and of the company are provided.

David Chorey has been antiquing and collecting for over fifteen years. His passions are glassware, art pottery and pottery dinnerware. His primary areas of interest are Universal Potteries dinnerware, Cambridge Glass and blue-colored art pottery.

Very useful book. Arrived as advertised."

Just what I needed to identify patterns!

great informaiton

This is a great source of information for the collector of Universal Pottery. There is a particularly large amount of photos of sets from all time frames. I bought this almost pristine copy as a used books for a bargain basement price.

David J. Chorey's ENCYCLOPEDIA OF UNIVERSAL POTTERIES provides a fine reference to Universal Potteries product lines, pairing fine clear color photos throughout with values, company history, patterns, descriptions and background. Any library strong in pottery collecting will find this a large, popular line and thus the ENCYCLOPEDIA will have an especially high lending interest level.
