Catherine Mann has us feeling all the feels with her latest release! She's bringing us the latest in the Texas Cattleman's Club: Blackmail series and is telling the story of a young widow trying to survive with her two young kids when along comes a rich techie who is much more down to earth than she ever imagined he would be. It's sweet to watch him connect with her kids, and gently woo her into giving him a chance. Really enjoyed this story! Billionaire Max St. Cloud comes to Royal, Texas as a favor to his good friend Chelsea Hunt. His specialty is cybersecurity, and he aims to track down who this cyber bully that's terrorizing the Texas Cattleman's Club is. During interviews around the area, he meets the town's lovely B & B owner and is suddenly smitten. Natalie Valentine is overworked and still trying to find her footing on her own with two toddlers. When the sexy stranger comes to town, she can't help but notice him ... but why is he acting like he's interested in her? She's plain Jane compared to what he's used to ... and he's not exactly Daddy material!

Taking Home the Tycoon by Catherine Mann is the latest installment in the Texas Cattleman's Club Blackmail series by Harlequin Desire. In classic Mann style, a dog plays a key role in bringing our hero and heroine together. I love that Mann tries to incorporate veteran's issues into her novels. This is no exception. The heroine is a widow, her husband having been killed in action. Though it is subtle, there is a clear recognition that being a war widow isn't easy, nor is being a military wife. Yes, there is a lot going on in this little book. Mann is one of my go-to authors and has been for years. She manages to wrap a huge amount of heart and emotion into a short amount of category space. This is no exception. I voluntarily reviewed an ARC of this novel.
